Plans Filed For Approach To Bridge

Plans for the construction of a four-lane approach to the new Delaware River Bridge at Delaware Water Gap, complete with two interchanges, the relocation of the road from Route 611 to Tinkertown Crossing and the cut-off of a section of Cherry Creek have been recorded at Monroe County Court House here.

Advertisement for bids will be published in the near future and although no date has been set for completion of the super highway program, it was indicated that the approach may not be ready before the summer of 1954.

Approved June 4 by E. L. Schmidt, State secretary of highways, the plans were drawn by the architectural firm of engineering of Gannett, Fleming, Corddry and Carpenter, Inc., Ardmore and filed here June 26.

The main highway to the bridge will be elevated and will span 6201 feet from Route 611 to the toll booths. New Jersey bound traffic will enter the new highway section near the Hickory Valley Farm store and the cemetery just north of Delaware Water Gap.

Traffic north bound from Portland will continue on Route 611 to Stroudsburg or may approach the bridge on High St. in Delaware Water Gap, making their entrance at an interchange located at the rear of the Castle Inn property.

New Jersey traffic bound for Stroudsburg will travel in two lanes across the bridge and remain on the elevated road to the intersection of Route 611. East Stroudsburg bound traffic will leave the main highway at the second interchange, a figure eight system, entering a new road located between the stop light at Water Gap and Tinkertown Crossing. Local traffic, to Delaware Water Gap, will weave around the first interchange and travel on High St.

Plans call for the relocation of a 2600-foot highway from the stop light in Water Gap to Tinkertown Crossing and provide for a 100-foot right-of-way. A new entrance to the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad station also will be constructed at the first interchange near Castle Inn, a two-ramp semi-circular system.

Properties affected by the plans are owned by Mr. and Mrs. Harold B. Crossdale, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Gehm, Christie D. Shull, Howard Drake and Castle Inn, recently sold to Waring Enterprises, Inc. Only the latter will be affected directly by the program, since the swimming pool, locker rooms and athletic field there all are in line of the interchange. Other properties will be utilized only as roadways where the highway will cross.

At the bridge to be constructed by the Joint Delaware River Toll Bridge Commission, six booths will be installed to receive traffic, with three handling New Jersey bound vehicles and three accepting Pennsylvania's influx of cars.

Traffic will not converge at any point along the route, according to the plan. A 72-foot bridge will be constructed over the Castle Inn interchange system and at many points on the elevated main line the roadway will extend about 30 feet above the present terrain. A divider strip will separate the four lanes and each lane calls for 12-foot margins with 10-foot shoulders on both sides of the highway.

Cherry Creek will be relocated and straightened for a distance of about 450 feet.

Tories Defeat Censure Motion

London, (AP)—Prime Minister Winston Churchill's Conservative Government yesterday beat down a Labor party attempt to drive it out of office for not knowing in advance that American planes planned to bomb Communist power plants on the Yalu River.

The vote was 300 to 270 against a Labor party motion of censure. The Conservative victory came after Churchill warned the House against antagonizing American public opinion in a presidential year.

New Controls Act Attacked By President

Washington, (AP)—President Truman yesterday labeled the new economic controls law "a serious gamble with inflation." And he warned that unless Congress puts up adequate funds, controls may collapse completely.

Truman vented his views in a 1,200-word statement on the Defense Production Act passed by Congress last Saturday. He found a few points to cheer about for about 115 words, and denounced the measure most of the rest of the way.

The President signed the act with obvious reluctance Monday, to keep any controls whatsoever, and the law went into effect yesterday to replace an expiring program.

The new measure whittles down price and wage control powers far below what Truman asked, but extends them for 10 months.

Truman said a ban on price controls over any fruits and vegetables exposes the housewife "to higher prices on fully 20 per cent of her market basket."

He said the law abolishes "for all practical purposes" the powers of the Wage Stabilization Board to try to settle defense plant labor disputes.

The law says the wage board may make recommendations in labor disputes only when both sides ask it to step in.

The President didn't mention a section of the law requesting him to use the Taft-Hartley Law's court injunction powers to end the current steel strike. He has said in the past Congress can't force him to act.

Truman decreed a provision abolishing the administration's power to control down payments and the time-to-pay on all consumer goods, effective immediately. The Federal Reserve Board recently suspended installment credit curbs, but urged power to put them on again if inflation mounts.

Truman said the law also probably will eliminate any requirements on down payments for houses in about five months.

Gas Tax Grant Larger Than One Year Ago

Monroe County has received its share of the liquid fuels tax from the State in the amount of $37,336.79, for the period Dec. 1, 1951, to June 1, 1952.

This is an increase of almost $2,000 over the same period for last year. The check received June 1, 1951, was for $35,445.67.

The amount turned over to the county is generally higher in the last six months of the year. The amount for June 1, 1951 to Dec. 1, 1951, was $38,936.78, according to county Treasurer P. A. Rockefeller.

Truce Talks Postponed At Red Request

Munsan, Korea (AP)—Communist truce negotiators today asked for a surprise one-day postponement of the Korean armistice talks. The United Nations command agreed.

No reason was given by the Reds for the postponement. It was asked at a meeting of liaison officers.

The Communists may still be studying an Allied outline of armistice proposals which gave the Reds an opportunity to save face on the deadlocked prisoner of war exchange issue.

The Communists yesterday clung to their demand for forced repatriation of prisoners but made no direct reply to the Allied proposal. There were hints that they would like to study it at secret sessions.

Maj. Gen. William K. Harrison Jr., senior Allied delegate, presented the United Nations Command position in a carefully-worded statement.

He said the Allied armistice draft provides that "all prisoners of war in the custody of each side" at the time a truce becomes effective will be released and repatriated.

Harrison added that the exchange of war prisoners will be based upon lists checked by each side prior to the signing of an armistice. That means that before an armistice the U. N. Command could have dropped the designation of "war prisoner" and given new status to those thousands of captives who refuse to return to Red rule.

If there's rain the hills today it's a sure sign of rain for the next six weeks.

This is in accordance with an old legend prevalent in the Pennsylvania hillsides—a legend which dates back to the time of Christ's conception and a visit which Mary made to her cousin.

Basically, the story seems to be this: That following the Annunciation, Mary leaves her home and goes up into the hill country to visit her cousin Elizabeth who is also with child.

On arrival at Elizabeth's home, Mary speaks, magnifying the Lord, according to the gospel of St. Luke.

From this journey into the hills, handed down through the Bible and legendary repetition, has grown a superstition which runs something like this:

Many additional hours of digging through debris darkened the hopes of the workers that Allen Sedesse, 31, father of four children, would be found alive.

Senate Okays German Pacts

Washington (AP)—The Senate yesterday overwhelmingly ratified peace agreements bringing West Germany as an armed ally into the free world's mutual defense organization.

The United States thus became the first nation to approve all the documents, hailed by sponsors as ushering in a new era of European cooperation.

The agreements do not become effective until ratified by parliaments of the other nations involved, including West Germany—a process sure to spark stormy debate and one that could consume many more months.

One agreement between the U. S., Britain, France and West Germany ends the Allied occupation of West Germany and returns the federal republic of Germany to the family of nations as an almost equal member.

A second document in the network of pacts signed in Europe last month would create a European Defense Community (EDC) with a single army of units from France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

The Senate was not called upon to ratify the EDC contract, but it approved an agreement tying EDC—and thus West Germany—to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

HST In Arkansas To Dedicate Dams

Little Rock, Ark. (AP)—President Truman arrived here by plane at 8:27 p. m. (EDT) yesterday en route to the northern border of Arkansas for a speech dedicating the Bull Shoals and Norfolk Dams.

Truman landed at Adams field in an Air Force Constellation—in his own plane, the "Independence"—is being used by Secretary of State Acheson—and drove to the Little Rock depot to board a train for an overnight ride to the area of the dams.

He spoke at 1 p. m. (EDT) at the site of the big Bull Shoals Dam after an earlier inspection of the Norfolk project.

18 Regulars Given Nod Over Grass Roots Bloc

Byrnes Sets Pattern For Dixie Revolt

Houston, Tex. (AP)—Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina brought out into the open yesterday the virulent threat of a southern revolt against any Democratic presidential nominee who supports President Truman's civil rights program.

Byrnes laid before reporters at the annual Governors Conference here the pattern of a possible post-convention bolt. He said his own state, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, Texas and possibly others might follow.

It consisted, principally, of action to keep the total of 62 electoral votes of the five states unpledged until after the Republican and Democratic conventions in Chicago this month. President Truman lost 39 electoral votes in the States Rights revolt of 1948.

Byrnes, former secretary of state and Supreme Court justice, made it clear that so far as his own state is concerned the electors could be instructed to vote for a Republican or a third ticket standard bearer. If the Democratic platform calls for a Fair Employment Practices Commission with powers to enforce in the states its ruling against job discrimination.

And, by indirection, Byrnes pinned an "unacceptable" label on Gov. Adlai E. Stevenson of Illinois, being boomed for the Democratic nomination despite Stevenson's assertion that he doesn't want to run.

Stevenson said he favors state action on FEPC, but added that if the states don't act, then the federal government must. Criticizing this as an invasion of states rights, Byrnes declared:

"I would find it difficult to support a man who supports a compulsory FEPC law, unless he does not mean what he says."

Stevenson declined comment. Friends said, however, that while the Illinois governor favors action to compromise the party-splitting civil rights issue, he does not believe the Democrats can back completely away from the 1948 platform declaration calling for action by Congress on Truman's proposals, including FEPC.

Byrnes indicated he expects the question of whether the Democratic conventions will seat southern delegations which have kept their ticket open will come to a head when Texans seek official administration.

The South Carolina governor said his own delegation will be ready to take a walk if the Texans are not seated.

Prison Rioters Surrender Quietly

Concord, Mass. (AP)—All 34 rioting prisoners at Concord State Reformatory gave themselves up without a struggle late yesterday.

State police reported the prisoners surrendered quietly. They had locked themselves in two rooms with guards and instructors at hostages.

First reports said the disturbance broke out in the kitchen and that the prisoners grabbed the guards and forced them to go along to the storeroom which is nearby.

Treasury Sets Fiscal Deficit At $4 Billion

Washington (AP)—The government overcast its income precisely $4,016,646,378.10 in fiscal 1952, which ended Monday. The statistics were announced yesterday by the Treasury.

Spending, soaring approximately 50 per cent over the preceding year, hit the highest total for any year without an all-out war—$86,145,246,957.62.

Tax receipts, shot 39 per cent above fiscal 1951 by rate hikes and new levies, climbed 20 billion dollars above the World War Two peak to an unprecedented $62,128,606,579.52.

The federal debt moved up to $259,150,744,131.47 during the year as the government borrowed to meet expenses not covered by receipts. That was still 20 billion below the war-time crest.

U. N. Rejects Red Proposal For Debate

United Nations, N.Y. (AP)—The Security Council rejected 10-1 yesterday, Russia's demand to invite Communist China and North Korea into debate here on an American resolution for an impartial investigation of Red germ warfare charges. The Soviet Union promptly declared it would not take part in the discussion and would veto the American proposal.

American Delegate Ernest A. Gross, speaking slowly and emphatically, accused Soviet Delegate Jacob A. Malik of pulling a "sit-down strike."

The U. N. will "not be put off by a Soviet veto," he asserted, and the Russians "cannot veto facts."

Gross, in a 4,000-word speech, challenged Malik to accept the investigation in the name of truth. Gross said a hate campaign directed against the United States by the Moscow Communists has been growing stronger since the first report of germ warfare came from Peiping Feb. 23.

Elisenhower supporters generally were in favor of wide open coverage, particularly for the delegate hearings, but some of Taft's people objected to the blaze of lights and maze of technical equipment which confronted them when they gathered in a ballroom of the Conrad Hilton Hotel. Taft abandoned his earlier opposition to television Monday and said TV would be all right with him if it was all right with the National Committee.

Long Steel Strike Seen

Pittsburgh (AP)—A top steel industry spokesman predicted yesterday a "long drawn out" fight between the industry and the striking CIO United Steelworkers. The prediction came as the number of workers idled by the walk-out spurred to the million mark.

Charles M. White, head of Republic Steel, in a telegram to Presidential Assistant John M. Steelman declared:

"We have fully explored the possibility of reconciling the union shop issue with the CIO and we see no possible area of compromise."

More than 600,000 members of the Steelworkers Union have been on strike since June 2 over demands for an hourly 2-cent wage and fringe package recommended by the Wage Stabilization Board. The WSB also recommended industry adoption of the union shop whereby all steelworkers would be compelled to join the union.

No Test Of Strength With Ike Involved

By The Associated Press

Florida's "regular" delegation, strongly pro-Taft, won the first big round yesterday in its fight to be seated at the Republican National Convention next week.

The GOP's National Committee voted unanimously in Chicago to issue credentials to the 18 regulars and bar a rival "grass roots" delegation which had protested against what it called the steamroller tactics of Taft forces.

The committee also voted 60 to 40 to bar all radio microphones and all television, newscast and still cameras from the pre-convention meetings.

While the Florida decision was regarded as a victory for Taft, it was not a direct test of strength between his supporters and those behind Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower. The "grass roots" delegation is publicly uncommitted, although some members were reported willing to consider Eisenhower.

The regular delegation was selected by the State Executive Committee, the other by conventions called by a minority faction of the Executive Committee.

There are six other state delegate contests to be decided by the National Committee. All center around the Taft-Elisenhower struggle for convention votes.

Decisions of the National Committee can be appealed to the Credentials Committee and the convention itself.

In all, 72 convention seats were at stake when the committee began its hearings. In a close race between Eisenhower and Taft, they could decide the nomination.

The vote against cameras and microphones left the pre-convention coverage in the hands of the news correspondents.

Elisenhower supporters generally were in favor of wide open coverage, particularly for the delegate hearings, but some of Taft's people objected to the blaze of lights and maze of technical equipment which confronted them when they gathered in a ballroom of the Conrad Hilton Hotel. Taft abandoned his earlier opposition to television Monday and said TV would be all right with him if it was all right with the National Committee.

But after one look at the technical paraphernalia in the ballroom yesterday morning, members of the committee marched out and convened in an empty night club room, where only news reporters were admitted.

They appointed a subcommittee to study the question of extended coverage.

To subcommittee recommended coverage limited to two newscast cameras, three television cameras and three still photographers representing newspapers and magazines.

But the committee turned thumbs down. A last-minute plea for amplified coverage, wired by Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York, an Eisenhower supporter fell on deaf ears.

Switches in delegate strength since Saturday night have dropped Taft from 481 to 474 in The Associated Press scoreboard of delegates. He was figured to have lost four delegates in Virginia, two in Delaware and one in West Virginia.

At the same time Eisenhower gained four, including two in Delaware and one each in Maine and Virginia. His score in the AP tabulation rose from 406 to 410.

Sen. Eugene D. Milliken of Colorado, a delegate supporting Taft, was named permanent chairman of the GOP Platform Drafting Committee yesterday. Milliken elected to take the chairmanship of the subcommittee on foreign policy as well. He will thus be in a key position when the important foreign policy plank is drafted.

Harold E. Stassen, former governor of Minnesota and a candidate for the presidential nomination, appeared before the platform builders to tell them he is gravely concerned lest the convention adopt a platform "so conservative" that it would defeat the party in November.

He advocated a compulsory federal fair employment practices act and, on foreign policy, urged the party to take an affirmative stand aimed at weakening Communism and winning the peace without war.

Majority Of Hunters Want Longer, Later Duck Season In Pennsylvania This Fall

Harrisburg, (AP)—The State Game Commission was told yesterday a majority of Pennsylvania's outdoor sportsmen want a longer and later duck hunting season this fall.

The commission heard conflicting views from hunters in northern and southern counties at an open meeting before it entered a two-day session to consider 1952 bag limits and open seasons.

"Reaction in our organization indicates that most of the hunters would prefer a duck season that would extend further into November," said S. Dale Furst of Williamsport, president of the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs.

Last year's 40-day duck season, set by the U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service, opened Oct. 12 and closed Nov. 14. The federal agency, which determines seasons on waterfowl, usually follows the recommendation of the game commission.

"We need an earlier season," said Robert Sullivan of Columbia, Lancaster County, who spoke for duck hunters in the lower Susquehanna River area. "Most ducks are gone from this area by the opening of the season."

The later season was approved by sportsmen from the Lake Erie and upper Susquehanna River areas while Delaware River hunters sought a later season corresponding to that of New Jersey.

Thomas D. Frye, executive director of the game commission, told a newsman it might be possible to get a 45 to 50-day season this fall.

The sportsmen's federation, which claims a membership of nearly 200,000 members, had four other recommendations for changes in the state game code.

They include a full 30-day season on ruffed grouse, increased daily limits on squirrels from four to six, opening the groundhog season on June 15 instead of July 1, and a concurrent trapping season for mink and muskrats.

Dear Sir:

Yes, here comes the Doctor, Dr. Silkin, that is, in a special Spook Show scheduled for the Sherman Theatre tonight at 7 & 9 p.m. Being a lover of Magic and the Supernatural myself for nine years or so, I have often heard Silkin referred to as "The Man of Your Nightmares" and "The Ghost Maker." With this rather gruesome title hanging over him, one would hardly expect the Doctor to be the fun making, ever smiling individual that he is. As I had the pleasure of catching his show in Philadelphia not so many years ago, let me assure you that he is not at all as one would picture him. (Although things DO get a bit blood chilling from time to time.) Especially when The Frankenstein Monster makes his appearance. At any rate, you may be sure that I for one, will be in the front row tonight, when the curtain goes up on the "Asylum of Horrors," and out steps the suave guileless faced "Doctor" with his seemingly endless supply of thrills, chills and general mayhem.

Be Safe!

The long Fourth-of-July weekend will again pose the usual problems of safety, convenience and patience, for many millions of motorists traveling over the highways of the Nation.

This vast flow of vehicles, certain to be one of the greatest in motoring history, will clog virtually every road leading to the mountains, seashore points and other resorts. And this tremendous cavalcade of cars will considerably increase the danger to all, percentage-wise.

Hundreds of motorists and their passengers died in highway accidents over the three-day Memorial Day holiday this year. If that terrible and highly unnecessary toll is to be cut down appreciably over the July 4 holiday all of us who drive anywhere during those three days must be certain that our cars are in the best possible mechanical shape, observe every common-sense rule of the road, and practice courtesy and patience at all times.

Strict observance of speed limits and all posted regulations and the policy of "looking out for the other fellow" will be of the utmost importance to everyone on the highways. Early starts and leisurely driving also are essential safety factors, particularly on such a travel-congested holiday, and roundabout routes or even "back roads" should prove more desirable—and certainly less dangerous—routes to many of the popular places.

The motorist more than ever will be personally responsible for his own safety and the safety of countless others along the road.

Be prepared, be courteous, be patient—and be safe.

The average American man's waistline measures 34 inches.

Washington Report

—by Fulton Lewis, Jr.

Dwight D. Eisenhower.

The most recent indication is the result of a visit to the Waldorf-Astoria by Gen. Douglas MacArthur by Gov. John S. Fine of Pennsylvania. Fine, with 20 Pennsylvania delegates in his pocket, conferred with MacArthur on the substance of the General's keynote speech to be delivered in Chicago.

The visit demoralized the Eisenhower camp. Long distance telephone lines were burdened with messages of dismay; campaign managers for the related incident with foam-flecked mutterings. Calls of distress were dispatched to pro-Eisenhower columnists and commentators who immediately began describing the Pennsylvania Governor as "cunning," "Boss-Ridden" and a sucker for flattery. He was, in fact, accused of everything but having atom-bombed Eisenhower's headquarters.

The response was particularly puzzling not only to the governor, but to Gen. MacArthur as well. Less than three weeks ago Eisenhower and his aides sugar-coated Fine with buckets of political flattery. They even publicly admired his political honesty in stating that as of the moment he had not made up his mind which candidate to support.

Gov. Fine is not a country bumpkin ensnared by a persuasive military hero, as Eisenhower's supporters now describe him. The best witness of this fact is another politician from Gov. Fine's state, Senator James Duff, an ardent Eisenhower supporter.

Duff visited Gen. Eisenhower when the latter was still commanding the North Atlantic treaty organization armies in Paris. He did not go to Paris to confer with Eisenhower on the disposition of troops, but even this fact did not force Senator Taft or his supporters into a coma. They weathered the blow with stiff upper lips and masterful silence.

This model of political behavior, however, had no impression on the Eisenhower headquarters. With the shoe on the other foot, the chaos became unbearable, and Gov. Fine suddenly became a kind of political beast.

Terrifying as the reaction is to Fine's visit in New York, Eisenhower's managers should be toughened by now to Pennsylvania's brand of politics—especially Senator Duff.

Duff and Fine were running mates on the Republican ticket that put them both in office in 1950. The political patty-cake ended, however, right after the last vote had been counted. Duff returned to Washington with a retinue of public relations experts and announced in a loud voice that he was running the state of Pennsylvania, including the dispensing of political patronage. He got no farther than the announcement. Fine reached out and yanked the rostrum out from under Duff's feet and the Senator hasn't been able to remount it effectively since. As a result, he has plumped for Eisenhower on the theory that with the General in the White House he would realize his dream of losing Pennsylvania politically.

Fine, however, is still a night-dream among Duff's nocturnal visions. The Governor, as usual, made no announcement following his visit to the Waldorf-Astoria. He has informed both Taft and Eisenhower that he will reveal where he is going with his 30 delegates after he reaches Chicago on July 6. He did not anticipate that every time he sneezed or took a trip between now and then, that political bulletins were going to be issued on a national scale.

All in all, the reaction to Fine's visit reveals how badly Eisenhower's backers need the Governor's 30 delegates. This is in strange contrast to recent announcements by Senator Cabot Lodge, Eisenhower's campaign manager.

Lodge has been belittling Taft's delegate count and puffing up the General's with increasing blarney of wind. If he is right, there is no use in his going to pieces just because the Governor of Pennsylvania visits Gen. MacArthur for a dinner session on a public speech. I'm sure Gen. MacArthur has another steak in the deep freezer he would be willing to split with Lodge. After all, Lodge has been advising MacArthur on how to behave at the National Convention. And yet he begrudges MacArthur seeking advice from Gov. Fine. Puzzling, isn't it?

But Don't Sit Down

Heed these words of a prominent man, a thinker—"Politicians have strained their ingenuity to discover new sources of public revenues. They have continued the extraordinary taxes of war time into peace time."

"A man now has to defend himself against being rich as if it were the worst of crimes."

"Athletics have become professionalized. Philosophy has struggled to find some substitute for the Divine commandments and the surveillance of God."

The prominent man who said those words was Socrates, and he said them in 353 B. C.

The words of the ancients often are comforting, because they show that problems that seem new were faced by people hundreds or thousands of years ago.

History not only repeats itself; at times it sounds like a cracked phonograph record.

Which doesn't mean, of course, that people should sit down and wait until the wheel turns and the trouble goes away. We suspect that all through the centuries people have struggled mightily against their adversaries; that if they hadn't, the human race might not be around today.

Not out of the trees, anyway.

My New York

—By Mel Heimer

Port-au-Prince, Haiti — When you get right down to it, you figure out with a grin, about the most wonderfully ridiculous thing a man can do in these prosaic times is to get into a flying machine and travel for seven and a half hours to a foreign country — just to see a movie. It is a gesture grande.

You sit here now in a local American bar and think about it, sipping your beer and shaking your head and laughing. Outside, in the dusty, sunny streets of Port-au-Prince, the natives pad slowly by in their bare feet, baskets on their heads. You look through an open door at the long, shimmering road; you study the sleepy town with its undercurrent of half-hearted babble, and you decide this is the unlikeliest place of all for the world premiere of a colossal Hollywood epic.

However, it was just a few days ago, a Hollywood studio, through the courtesy of Darryl Zanuck, the Wahoo boy, herded 50 or 60 journalists into a plane, complemented them with actors Bill Marshall and Anne Francis, pointed them toward the Caribbean and told them to go and live dangerously. The occasion was the first showing anywhere of something called Lydia Bailey, and the reason it was being shown first in Haiti was because it was about Haitian history (or a reasonable facsimile)—with, of course, the inevitable romance.

This is the rainy season here—that means it rains one hour a day, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon—so the premiere was shifted from the open-air theater to the movie house inside the military barracks. This, you discover, was like a premiere inside a Turkish bath, only more so.

You squeezed yourself into white jacket and black tie, rolled ominously down the mountainside from Petionville into town, and joined the rendezvous of official cars behind the gaudy palace. Then the caravan set off at last, with fireworks ahead of you sounding like a new revolution, and finally you found yourself in the movie house.

Haitian society had turned out en masse, the men handsome, the women regal and beautifully gowned—and all dying from the heat. There have been few hotter places in the world's history than that movie house here in Port-au-Prince, that premiere night.

As you melted, you sat there dazedly through a preliminary stage program of Haitian folk dances—and meditated . . . was this trip necessary?

The president—big, dignified Paul Magloire—arrived with Mrs. Magloire and the usual entourage of cabinet members and attaches. This was the signal for the national anthem, a strange kind of jump tune that didn't appear to have half the weight or impact of some of the folk music.

Then, at last, the movie itself, in glorious color film. It dealt somewhat elastically—that seems a conservative word—with Haitian history, and you doubt seriously it will be nominated as one of the year's 10 best movies, but when you fled out of the movie house later you talked with some Haitians about it and they were politely enthusiastic.

The two hours in the steam bath did it. Your official car ferried you over to the nearby palace for madame president's ball for the visiting dignitaries—that's you, and your hoodlumous friends—but you were so washed out that all you could do was sit down feebly, downing soft drinks, and thinking mournfully: let the others get up at 6 tomorrow to go over and see Christophe's Citadel. You will sleep.

They did, and you did, and here you were finally in that American bar, whiling the long afternoon away. Tomorrow again there would be New York and the wonderful noise and furore—but this was today, superb and peaceful . . . and tomorrow could wait.

Two Views On Unity

For many years now, those in power have demanded unity in support of the Administration. In practical terms, such a concept of unity can only mean an uncritical acceptance of the policies and acts of those in authority. That is political Fascism.

Our country has been fortunate in the recognition, since the Administration of George Washington, that criticism of the President or of anyone in authority is permissible. Nearly all of our Presidents have had a hard time with their critics, informed or uninformed, fair or unfair. Out of the criticism and clamor, however, has developed a free society in which the people actually partake of government.

Throughout our history, the press has played an important part in this criticism. During most of it, the press has been biased and partisan, that is, each newspaper represented a particular position and expounded it. It was not expected of Horace Greeley, Charles A. Dana, James Gordon Bennett, Joseph Pulitzer, Henry Watterson or William Randolph Hearst that they would be impartial in matters of principle, as each one of them interpreted the issue.

The refinement of impartiality, of good manners towards one's betters, as it were, is a new departure developed during the Roosevelt regime. It was not practiced during the Hoover Administration, Democratic newspapers then publishing the malevolent libels prepared by Charlie Michaelson.

Partisanship is a normal attitude in a free society; actually it is the mark of liberty of expression. The assumption that a man must be absolutely right before he criticizes the Administration, presupposes that anyone, on any side of a question, is absolutely right—which is unlikely, absolutely being the province of God, not of man.

I cite one example: when I broke the Amerasia Case, all I had was one document, not more, but it was an authentic document. It was enough to go on, but would not have stood up in a court as evidence. Out of that one document developed the Tydings Investigation, the McCarthy charges against Owen Lattimore, the McCarran Investigation into the Institute of Pacific Relations.

The public was entitled to that information, even if it did embarrass the President and the State Department. When the full report is in, the American people will have learned that a foreign country can organize our own sons and daughters into a force harmful to this country. There are now seven volumes of the McCarran Committee hearings to prove this; there will be 14. Also, "The Freeman" magazine, in its issue for June 30, 1952, has published an excellent summation of the material written by James Burnham.

These Days -- By George E. Sokolsky

When the doctrine of unity is applied to political parties, it produces mental stodge. The Republican Party has been out of office since 1933 for many reasons, some of which are the Depression; the shift of population increasing urban voting; the Federal payroll vote developed in both the Roosevelt and Truman regimes; the Mc-Toism of Republican candidates; the skillful fragmentation of the American people along racial, religious, color and vocational lines beyond anything heretofore witnessed, as part not only of a political campaign but with the Marxian purpose of stimulating class consciousness.

The Republican Party was unable to meet these tactics on an intellectual level. It depended to an extent upon the organizations of business men who regularly betrayed it in pursuit of their own purposes. For instance, Senator Taft was hailed as a hero by these business men for his fight in the Senate in support of American capitalism, but three times these same business men turned their backs on his Presidential aspirations because their public relations advisers told them that Taft could not win. And the main reason why they said that Taft could not win is that his name is attached to the Taft-Hartley Law, which they desired on the statute books!

Now these men are clamoring for unity within the Republican Party, by which they mean the support of their particular candidate. But what is needed now is not unity but debate. It is wonderful to see Taft and Eisenhower swatting each other—and more power to them both. That is a wholesome American process, and it will be equally wholesome when, during the campaign, the Republican and Democratic candidates hammer away at each other, producing facts and figures and data. Maybe it is dirty fighting—but good roses grow in well-manured soil.

Try And Stop Me —by Bennet Cerf

Gene Fowler, reminiscing at Toots Shor's chop house on the days when he was sports editor of the old New York Telegram (the joy ride ended when the owner came home from a vacation trip to Europe) recalls that he had so many prize fighters on the payroll that every time he rang a bell on his desk to summon a copy boy, the whole staff automatically began shadowboxing.

"One thing I never permitted," maintains Gene, "Nobody ever padded an expense account. Besides, we all knew there was no money in the till. And we had a strictly-observed code of manners, too. Nobody ever hit a lady with his hat on." Gene once called up the city editor to report his discovery of a murder. "What's become of the body?" asked the excited editor. "Nothing," said Gene. "I'm sitting on it."

England And The Commercials ("The British are again debating whether to allow commercials on radio and video"—News Item.)

"Ladies and gentlemen, I interrupt quite grudgingly this telecast of a spirited soccer game in order to make a slight reference to Whoopie's Beers and Ales. It is three hemispheric links this time. Ask the pub proprietor for the brew that has never mislaid its skill. Make it opaque! Make it Whoopie's! The brew, I am reliably informed, is not half bad. And now back to the program. (The program is resumed for a half hour.) It is with reluctance, I jolly well assure you, that we interrupt now to say a word for Tattersall's Razor Blades. Look alert! Feel rapier-like! Be superlatively keen, and all that sort of thing! Ask for the wholly adequate dispenser. Presto, and the entire operation preliminary to a shave is completed!"

(Later). — "My dear people, kindly try to tolerate a few words concerning Pixley's Refrigerator. This refrigerator, I am told, is enjoying a very satisfying popularity. Is it good? Well, rather! Pixley's Refrigerator has 21 distinct features, none of which I propose to mention here. The place to dwell upon 21 features is in a brochure, which, I presume, the company will be glad to mail if anyone is a victim of such quaint curiosity. And now back to Professor Horace Coddington routine in and all over a gymnasium. And there's no shortage of feminine beauty to gaze upon, including Patricia Wymore and especially, as mentioned before, Miss Mayo.

"Jumping Jacks," the latest Dean Martin & Jerry Lewis excursion in Cinema, has them in the paratroops this time. Dean is a 'chute soldier assigned to putting on a morale-building show. He shanghaies Civilian Lewis into the act, and soon the officers are mistaking Jerry for one of their men.

The big climax has Jerry tossed out of a troop-carrying plane, minus his parachute, only to land hair-raisingly on Dean's 'chute. Robert Strauss, the loud officer in "Sailor, Beware," is now the loud sergeant. For feminine beauty there is Mona Freeman. This is another cinch for Martin & Lewis fans.

Miss Mayo, as Hot Garters Gertie, has earned her tuition to Midwest State doing bumps and grinds on the burlesque stage. Professor Ronald Reagan, once her high-school teacher, knows her to be a nice girl who wants to be a writer. But his wife, Phyllis Thaxter, wonders and worries.

Old Football Hero Don DeFore consoles Phyllis, Roland Winters, president of the trustees, demands Gertie's, or Virginia's, expulsion from school on the eve of the big campus musical show. Then he discovers, to his crushing chagrin, that she is the same dame for whom he made a mink-coat play, in vain, while she was Hot Garters Gertie of the runway.

All hands seem to have participated in the frothy venture with enthusiasm and enjoyment. The Lefty Prinz dance spectacles are pretty but fairly routine. There are slow and talky stretches. But Gene Nelson does some magnificent footwork, including, especially, a strenuous

Looking At Life —by Erich Brandeis

The little town of Westport, Conn., where I live, is quite a noted— or rather notorious —artists' and writers' colony.

In winter it is a very peaceful town in New England—of which Connecticut is part—people hole in for the winter and don't really thaw out again until spring comes around.

But in summer Westport is a madhouse. Thousands of city folk from New York infest our town. Many of the townpeople who own homes here rent them out at fabulous prices—such as $2,000 for a seven-room house for June, July and August.

And now the four flushing begins. The fellow who does house cleaning in overalls, puts on his Tuxedo on Saturdays and Sundays and becomes a "butler" at some cocktail party or buffet supper for 100 or 200 people.

His wife helps out, his brother-in-law and cousins do likewise—and everybody has a high old time.

Let me tell you right here and now that my wife and I don't go in for that kind of stuff at all. As a matter of fact, I have sold my house and am moving away from Westport next month.

But it isn't just the money four flushers we "natives" resent. It's the art four flushers, the folks who want to make you believe that they, too, are members of the "Mystic Knights of the Arts or Literature."

So they let their beards grow. They wear berets and the loudest possible sports jackets and black shirts and fingerlings, and, if they can afford it, they race around their streets and roads in those crazy little foreign sports cars with cut-outs roaring.

I love Westport—the Westport of nature—with her hills and her beaches and her Long Island Sound.

They did, and you did, and here you were finally in that American bar, whiling the long afternoon away. Tomorrow again there would be New York and the wonderful noise and furore—but this was today, superb and peaceful . . . and tomorrow could wait.

Hollywood

—by Gene Handsaker

Hollywood—Here I've been going along for some time, blithely certain that the sexiest dame on the screen is Marilyn Monroe. But after viewing Virginia Mayo in She's Working Her Way Through College, I've switched my vote, temporarily at least.

Virginia wiggles a mean torso, and seems so innocent about it, as a burlesque queen gone to college in this item. It is an over-looked but generally lively musical version of the James Thurber-Elliott Nugent stage comedy, "The Male Animal." Warner Brothers, which gives us the new interpretation, produced the original as a non-musical film 10 years ago.

Miss Mayo, as Hot Garters Gertie, has earned her tuition to Midwest State doing bumps and grinds on the burlesque stage. Professor Ronald Reagan, once her high-school teacher, knows her to be a nice girl who wants to be a writer. But his wife, Phyllis Thaxter, wonders and worries.

Old Football Hero Don DeFore consoles Phyllis, Roland Winters, president of the trustees, demands Gertie's, or Virginia's, expulsion from school on the eve of the big campus musical show. Then he discovers, to his crushing chagrin, that she is the same dame for whom he made a mink-coat play, in vain, while she was Hot Garters Gertie of the runway.

All hands seem to have participated in the frothy venture with enthusiasm and enjoyment. The Lefty Prinz dance spectacles are pretty but fairly routine. There are slow and talky stretches. But Gene Nelson does some magnificent footwork, including, especially, a strenuous

England And The Commercials

The British are again debating whether to allow commercials on radio and video.—News Item.)

"Ladies and gentlemen, I interrupt quite grudgingly this telecast of a spirited soccer game in order to make a slight reference to Whoopie's Beers and Ales. It is three hemispheric links this time. Ask the pub proprietor for the brew that has never mislaid its skill. Make it opaque! Make it Whoopie's! The brew, I am reliably informed, is not half bad. And now back to the program. (The program is resumed for a half hour.) It is with reluctance, I jolly well assure you, that we interrupt now to say a word for Tattersall's Razor Blades. Look alert! Feel rapier-like! Be superlatively keen, and all that sort of thing! Ask for the wholly adequate dispenser. Presto, and the entire operation preliminary to a shave is completed!"

Pixley's Refrigerator has 21 distinct features, none of which I propose to mention here. The place to dwell upon 21 features is in a brochure, which, I presume, the company will be glad to mail if anyone is a victim of such quaint curiosity. And now back to Professor Horace Coddington routine in and all over a gymnasium. And there's no shortage of feminine beauty to gaze upon, including Patricia Wymore and especially, as mentioned before, Miss Mayo.

"Jumping Jacks," the latest Dean Martin & Jerry Lewis excursion in Cinema, has them in the paratroops this time. Dean is a 'chute soldier assigned to putting on a morale-building show. He shanghaies Civilian Lewis into the act, and soon the officers are mistaking Jerry for one of their men.

The big climax has Jerry tossed out of a troop-carrying plane, minus his parachute, only to land hair-raisingly on Dean's 'chute. Robert Strauss, the loud officer in "Sailor, Beware," is now the loud sergeant. For feminine beauty there is Mona Freeman. This is another cinch for Martin & Lewis fans.

Mount Pocono Club Initiates Move To Crack Down On Speeders

Rotary Plans Meeting With Town Council

Mount Pocono — Riding a groundswell of indignation, Mount Pocono Rotary has begun a crack-down on speeders.

Borough residents' attention has been focused on the problem especially since Sunday when a runaway truck crushed the life from its driver and shattered and burned the Silver Gray Inn south of the borough.

The move to bring strict observance of speed laws was initiated by Dr. Walter L. Schneider, a past Rotary president, at Monday night's meeting here.

Support of his call for speed law enforcement was immediate and unanimous on the part of fellow Rotarians.

First step was the selection of Thomas Lynott, retired coal operator, and Earl Brock, borough pharmacist, to serve with Schneider as a three-man committee which will seek some means of bringing greater traffic safety to the borough area.

First move by the committee will be to go before borough council at its meeting next Monday night to see if any solution can be offered there, and to enlist council's cooperation.

Rotarians agreed that truckers passing through the borough "at high speeds" were a principal target of the crack-down.

If necessary, the committee said, it will take its demands for greater safety and more enforcement before the State Highway Department Safety Council at Harrisburg.

One of the items to be checked at the council meeting is a current unofficial opinion that the State won't approve a speed limit lower than 35 miles an hour.

That is the present maximum limit in the borough, although Rotarians pointed out that the main street—Route 611—passes directly by an elementary school. The opinion Monday night was that a speed limit of 15 miles an hour in the school zone was needed.

Brock described the way he sits on the porch over his store after he closes up at night and watches the vehicles speeding south down the grade of Route 611, through the borough.

One of the suggestions offered was installation of a brake-testing station north of the borough, with State police checking the station one or two hours daily at different times each day.

The way the borough is situated, most of the residences are west of the highway, while the school is east of it. Some 55 per cent of the children must cross the highway to go home or get to school.

The only guard on duty at those times is the school janitor, and "nobody pays any attention to him," Rotarians said.

The borough also has a constable, Kenneth Miller, who serves part-time.

During the month of June, it was pointed out, Miller arrested 18 drivers for speeding violations. State police took 44 speeders before Justice of the Peace Emma Mervin.

Yesterday was a case in point. Justice Mervin indicated she told of Miller and State police going after a speeder heading south through the borough.

Police chased the man with sirens wide open, clocked him at 85 miles an hour, finally got him stopped at Tannersville.

As for accidents—the number has been large and the results

Batchler On Overseas Duty In Air Force

Kenneth Batchler, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Batchler, 621 N. Courtland St., East Stroudsburg is now serving overseas with the Air Force.

Couple Buys Property

Elizabeth G. Colvin, Stroudsburg, sold a property in that borough on Church St. and Fairview Ave., according to deeds recorded at the courthouse yesterday.

Grantees were Mr. and Mrs. Charles M. Hilgert, Stroudsburg. A Polk Township property on the road from Kresgeville to Wild Creek Reservoir was purchased by Stanley W. Meitzler, Kresgeville, with William H. Kunkle, Polk Township.

Churches Suspend August Services

Portland — The sessions of the Portland and Mt. Bethel Presbyterian Churches will suspend the worship services during the month of August.

Both groups approved August as the vacation period for the minister, Dr. David R. Edwards. When at home during that period, he will be available for necessary pastoral services.

Plans were made for celebration of the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper during morning worship this Sunday in both churches.

serious. A few years ago another trucker with brakes which failed to work rode his truck down the grade, finally jumped, but failed to escape. His head was sheared off.

In other accidents, trucks have crashed through the guard railings, collided with other trucks or cars at or beyond the railroad overpass, or have jumped the divider.

Rotarians said their move was to prevent what may otherwise be the inevitable—the death of a child or resident in the borough—and to reduce the accident toll in the borough area.

Council, Sewer Authority To Meet Jointly

East Stroudsburg's sewer authority will be called to a meeting with Borough Council later this month, it was decided by council last night.

An adjourned meeting was suggested. Purpose: to discuss the progress to date toward construction of a sewer system to serve the borough.

Council explained it had done what was requested of it, by passing an ordinance requiring borough residents to hook up with a sewer line if it passes their property.

Now council will ask the sewer authority what is the next step.

It was decided to advertise for bids for a garbage collection contract. The present contract will expire shortly.

Councilman Jack Wyckoff reported that the borough's newly purchased two-way radio equipment is almost all on hand, except for the main transmitter and the necessary papers.

After these arrive, installation will probably be made in a matter of a week or two, Wyckoff said. Council named Wyckoff as overseer of radio communications for the borough. He is an electrical contractor by trade.

The treasurer's report showed $9,214.64 in the general fund; $27,927.09 in the water fund; $3,103.50 in the highway fund; and $987.11 in parking meter receipts.

Several members of council said few complaints had been received over the new regulation in which police no longer turn up the meters. Council at a previous meeting had decided to halt the practice.

A request for installation of a street light between Second and Third Sts. was approved.

Justice of the Peace Marshall Neyhart reported $210 collected as fines during the month of May. Justice Herbert G. Bonser reported $90 collected during June.

300 Books On Display At College

A second book exhibit, featuring both fiction and non-fiction selections, will be held today at East Stroudsburg State Teachers' College laboratory school library.

A morning session from 9 a.m. to noon and an afternoon session from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. have been scheduled.

More than 300 books will be featured in the exhibit, representing 16 national publishing houses.

The exhibit is of special interest to educators since it contains the currently-popular editions used by various school libraries for children from kindergarten through grade 12.

The showing is sponsored cooperatively by the college dean of instruction, Dr. Theodore Moore; the college instructor in children's literature, Miss Josephine Kears; and the coordinator of the seminar-workshop, Dr. Nathan G. Meyer.

The public is also urged to visit this special library book exhibit.

A representative of the Naval aviation program will be available at State Teachers College Monday and Tuesday, July 7 and 8 to discuss the opportunities of this program.

Bakery Strike Ends

Pittsburgh (AP) — A secret vote ended an eight week strike yesterday against 18 major wholesale and home-delivery bakeries.

It is believed that the Eskimos lived north of Lake Superior about 2,000 years ago and moved north from there.

Monroe County's only jointure set-up was approved Monday night at a meeting of representatives from Chestnut Hill, Polk, Ross, Eldred and Hamilton Township school boards.

Their approval climaxed seven years of jointure study by the county office and several districts in Monroe.

From the Monday-night decision the following things may develop: The erection of a building which will house high school students from all five townships.

The standardization of texts and teaching methods throughout elementary grades.

Uniformity of "extra-curricular" advantages for all students in the early grades. (Example: music, art and shop facilities will be provided as finances and space permit with a supervisor appointed for each study. The supervisor will then spend a day or a day and a half at each of the elementary schools.)

The establishment of a 25-man joint school board which, to all practical purposes, is now in existence.

As its first official action on Monday night, this "joint board" agreed to name all its members to a "joint executive committee"—at least for the time being.

The agreement on the part of school board members attending the meeting—after some early discussion by Hamilton and Eldred board members separately—was unanimous.

Chest Maps Studies For Committees

Specific areas of study were set up this week for the three divisions of the Social Planning Committee of Monroe County Community Chest and Council.

Meeting at the YMCA the committee outlined studies for the Health, Family and Child Welfare, and Recreation and Informal Education divisions.

Business centered largely on a study of the report and recommendations of Charles N. Sampson, associate director of campaign and finance service, Community Chests and Councils of America, Inc. Mr. Sampson made a survey of the services of the participating Chest agencies.

J. L. Cohen, chairman of budget hearings for the Chest, reported on the possibilities of closer liaison between the budget and the social planning committees of the Chest.

Findings of the Family and Child Welfare Division, during recent meetings held to list needs of youth, were reported by Mrs. T. F. Rhodes. The needs were reported at an Allentown conference scheduled by a special committee on youth needs under a program set up by Gov. John S. Fine.

The hearings were held on recommendations that accrued from the White House conference on the Child and Youth program in an effort to better coordinate legislation to meet children's needs.

B. K. Williams Leaves Friday For Chicago

With the race for the Republican presidential nomination nearing its hottest peak, B. K. Williams, delegate to the national convention, is this week attending another convention—a meeting of game commissioners.

The meeting, which is being held at the Penn-Harris Hotel in Harrisburg, ends tomorrow.

Mr. Williams will return to his Stroudsburg home at that time.

He is expected to leave "around noon" Friday for Harrisburg, accompanied by Kenneth Kressler of Easton and alternates from the 15th Congressional district. The group will proceed to Chicago by train.

With Eisenhower forces accusing Taft forces and Taft forces launching charges at Ike forces, Pennsylvania's delegates may have chosen the proper atmosphere for a pre-convention warm-up.

In short—the Republican national convention is beginning to look like open season on nearly everybody.

Dr. Nina Price's office will be closed from June 28 to July 4 inclusive.—Adv.

Towel Trees, Hanging Soap In Bath News

Hanging soap, towel trees, medicine chests that match the color of the tilework and sprays that show the water temperature are soon going to make bath time a happier time for the American family.

That's the conclusion of a survey of the newest bathroom accessories and gadgets. Whether you like a leisurely tub or prefer a quick shower, manufacturers have a galaxy of products soon to hit the market to make your bath more comfortable. For example:

Adjustable Shower Shield

A new shower shield can be adjusted with a flick of the finger, so water won't strike your hair. A portable vanity table now being manufactured fits over the tub, so you can enjoy a good soaking bath and at the same time get your hair, fix your nails or smooth on cold cream or lotion.

The latest wash basin for bathroom fits into the counter top of a built-in dressing table. It can match or complement the room's main color, since it is available in eight hues.

Other new bathroom equipment is in color, too. Metal medicine cabinets, for instance, are to be available this fall in pastels, and the number of colors in clay tile for floor and walls now totals well over 200 shades.

Soap Hangs from Wall

A new bar of soap has a hole in its center, so that it can be hung from the wall. It's sold with a suction-pad hook which can be attached in a jiffy to the wainscot next to the shower.

If there aren't enough towel racks in your bathroom, one manufacturer has just the thing for you—a towel tree topped with a magnifying mirror.

Use Stiff Joists For Good Flooring

Floor joists must be stiff as well as strong for good flooring construction. The distinction between these two qualities frequently is not recognized by the layman, builders say.

A 2x8-inch joist, for example, may be sufficiently strong to support an anticipated floor load with no danger of collapsing. Yet it might vibrate or bend under a sudden heavy weight or footfall, causing the whole room to shake or the floor to sag at the point of pressure.

The strength of a joist varies as the square of the depth. Stiffness varies as the cube of the depth. Thus a 2x10-inch joist is nearly twice as stiff as a 2x8-inch timber, but only about one and one-half times as strong.

Trick To Thaw Frozen Pipes

When water pipes freeze, don't wait for them to thaw as the weather gets warmer. The Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau points out that damage from bursting pipes can far exceed the cost of having them thawed by a plumber.

Don't use a blow torch or other flame. It can start a fire or burst the pipe with steam pressure. Use hot water or electric heat and start from the faucet end.

Don't use lye, potash or drain solvents.

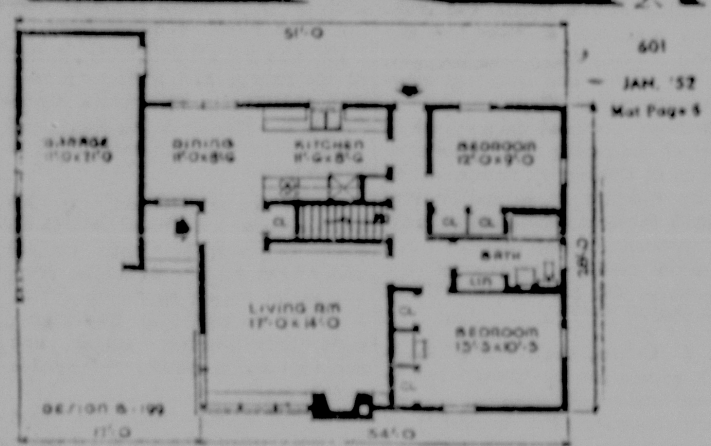

Don't pour boiling water into frozen toilet bowls—it can crack them.

Don't start a water heater when the pipes are frozen.

Doorway Canopy Gives Protection

When a front door opens directly into a living room, one of the advantages of a front porch, or at least a stoop, is to keep out rain and snow while the door is opened and also to afford temporary protection while raising or lowering an umbrella.

For homes lacking a covered doorway, an aluminum canopy has been designed, 42 inches long and 32 inches wide. It is equipped with hardened aluminum brackets and stainless steel hardware for hanging.

Guide For Window Gardens

When bulbs are plotted for indoor window gardens, failure to bloom usually may be attributed to two conditions—the length of time given for the root growth and the final forcing in too much light and heat. The time required for making roots depends upon the character of the bulbs, so keep this table as a guide:

Paper-white narcissus, 4 weeks; Roman hyacinths, 8 weeks; Dutch hyacinths, 10 weeks; tulips, 10 weeks; daffodils, jonquils, 10 weeks; crocus, 8 weeks; small hyacinths, 8 weeks; snowdrops 6 weeks; scillas, 6 weeks.

Plant hyacinths and daffodils so that the nose just protrudes when the pot is filled with soil to within half an inch of the top, and cover other kinds entirely with the tops barely below the surface.

When the roots are well grown, take the pots from storage and start forcing in a temperature of about 50 degrees without any direct sunlight. Increase heat and light gradually, but do not take into a warm room until the flowers are fully expanded.

If using water alone, place the bulbs in the container so that the water just touches the base of the bulbs, adding more as it evaporates. If clear glass is used for the dish, shut out the light from the roots by paper, cloth, or paint. Should the flower stem not keep pace with the leaves, put a cone-paper over the plant, which will give it a chance to catch up.

Functional Rooms Move Into Garage

Home builders in many cities are now cutting costs by moving the kitchen, laundry, heater room and breakfast room into the garage. The attached garage is being stretched out into an elbow from the main house, large enough to include all the functional parts of the average home.

This concentration of all operating parts of the house in one section, completely apart from the living and sleeping quarters, eliminates the need of having a basement.

Moisture Escapes Through Tubes

"Breather tubes" which permit moisture to escape through the outside walls of houses without blistering the paint now are on the market. Made of aluminum, the tubes are inserted from the outside to provide ventilation between stud spaces. They are covered on the end with screening to keep out insects and, flush with the siding surfaces, they are inconspicuous.

The stems of hardy chrysanthemums should be cut down and the soil around the plants should be mulched with hay, straw, leaves or peat moss.

A geranium red rug would be a good choice. For the walls I suggest chartreuse.

Gray would be a good color for the walls of your living room. For the kitchen walls I suggest chartreuse.

A large, sunny bedroom has walls painted a dullish blue. I have a mahogany desk and night table and a chest painted Chinese red in the room. The bedspread is light green trimmed with dark green. What colors would you suggest for linoleum and draperies?

I think I would select a deep red linoleum for this room, and gold draperies.

Modern boilers for steam or hot water heating systems require little more room than a small gas stove. They are a welcome solution to problems of space-saving in new home construction where the plans include a recreation, hobby, laundry or other "extra" room in the basement.

In either the hot water or steam heating system, the boiler may be located in a basement or a first floor utility room.

With modern hot water or steam systems, year-round domestic hot water is heated by the same boiler that heats the home. The expense and extra space requirements of a separate water heater are unnecessary. A dependable supply of hot water is available both summer and winter.

Radiator covers are made of heavy steel, lined in asbestos, and are made in several sizes and colors. An extra charge is made if simulated wood grain finish is desired. Not only do the covers tend to groom a room, but surface soil is diminished.

A built-in ventilation fan and a built-in electric auxiliary heating unit will be welcome additions to the new bathroom.

When a front door opens directly into a living room, one of the advantages of a front porch, or at least a stoop, is to keep out rain and snow while the door is opened and also to afford temporary protection while raising or lowering an umbrella.

For homes lacking a covered doorway, an aluminum canopy has been designed, 42 inches long and 32 inches wide. It is equipped with hardened aluminum brackets and stainless steel hardware for hanging.

When bulbs are plotted for indoor window gardens, failure to bloom usually may be attributed to two conditions—the length of time given for the root growth and the final forcing in too much light and heat. The time required for making roots depends upon the character of the bulbs, so keep this table as a guide:

Paper-white narcissus, 4 weeks; Roman hyacinths, 8 weeks; Dutch hyacinths, 10 weeks; tulips, 10 weeks; daffodils, jonquils, 10 weeks; crocus, 8 weeks; small hyacinths, 8 weeks; snowdrops 6 weeks; scillas, 6 weeks.

Plant hyacinths and daffodils so that the nose just protrudes when the pot is filled with soil to within half an inch of the top, and cover other kinds entirely with the tops barely below the surface.

When the roots are well grown, take the pots from storage and start forcing in a temperature of about 50 degrees without any direct sunlight. Increase heat and light gradually, but do not take into a warm room until the flowers are fully expanded.

If using water alone, place the bulbs in the container so that the water just touches the base of the bulbs, adding more as it evaporates. If clear glass is used for the dish, shut out the light from the roots by paper, cloth, or paint. Should the flower stem not keep pace with the leaves, put a cone-paper over the plant, which will give it a chance to catch up.

Home builders in many cities are now cutting costs by moving the kitchen, laundry, heater room and breakfast room into the garage. The attached garage is being stretched out into an elbow from the main house, large enough to include all the functional parts of the average home.

This concentration of all operating parts of the house in one section, completely apart from the living and sleeping quarters, eliminates the need of having a basement.

"Breather tubes" which permit moisture to escape through the outside walls of houses without blistering the paint now are on the market. Made of aluminum, the tubes are inserted from the outside to provide ventilation between stud spaces. They are covered on the end with screening to keep out insects and, flush with the siding surfaces, they are inconspicuous.

The stems of hardy chrysanthemums should be cut down and the soil around the plants should be mulched with hay, straw, leaves or peat moss.

A geranium red rug would be a good choice. For the walls I suggest chartreuse.

Gray would be a good color for the walls of your living room. For the kitchen walls I suggest chartreuse.

A large, sunny bedroom has walls painted a dullish blue. I have a mahogany desk and night table and a chest painted Chinese red in the room. The bedspread is light green trimmed with dark green. What colors would you suggest for linoleum and draperies?

I think I would select a deep red linoleum for this room, and gold draperies.

Modern boilers for steam or hot water heating systems require little more room than a small gas stove. They are a welcome solution to problems of space-saving in new home construction where the plans include a recreation, hobby, laundry or other "extra" room in the basement.

Does Contract Price Include Your Mortgage?

If you sign a contract to buy a house for $25,000 "subject" to an encumbrance of $10,000, do you have to pay only $15,000 on closing the deal, or $25,000?

George F. Anderson, legal expert for the National Association of Real Estate Boards, recently pointed out that it is important to find out what the seller, or broker, means by the word "subject."

"There are many cases," he observed, "holding that when the word 'subject' is used, the encumbrance is not deducted from the purchase price. It's a tricky little word. Use it with care."

Shutters Give Door Emphasis

In newly constructed houses, many front doors are given emphasis by the addition of shutters. These permit the introduction of lovely color in an area that focuses attention on the entranceway and seems to add a welcoming note. The shutters that flank the front door are usually painted the same color as the other shutters on the house and, of course, blend with the coloring of the roof.

Almost any color can be used for the purpose and attractive tones have appeared lately of colors ranging from magenta to turquoise—from yellow-gold to terra cotta.

Reduces Dust

A couple of layers of cheesecloth placed under floor registers will reduce the amount of dust that comes up from the basement without obstructing the flow of heat.

Use Doorway For Shelves

An unused doorway can be converted into a space-saving bookcase or china cabinet by removing the door and door stops and building shelves to fit the space.

If shelves are made as a complete unit, they can be removed without damage to the door casing if the doorway is again needed for its original purpose.

The frame for the shelves is made of two vertical 6" boards the height of the doorway, held together by horizontal boards at top and bottom. Cover the back of this frame with strong building board and then fasten shelves with counter-sunk screws properly spaced. The front of the shelf frame can be enclosed with light wood or glass doors.

East Borough Police Arrest 41 In June

East Stroudsburg borough police made a total of 41 arrests during June, Chief Arthur Swink said yesterday.

Ten of these arrests were for speeding; six for failure to observe stop signs and four for over-time parking.

Improper parking procedures accounted for two arrests.

Intoxication accounted for an additional 11 counts. Ten of these were for "drunk and disorderly" charges while another person was arrested for driving while intoxicated.

Two persons were arrested for disorderly conduct and one dog was picked up "running at large." One violation occurred when a driver tried to cross the railroad tracks "while the gates were down."

These arrests netted a total of $260 in fines during the month—$250 of which stays in the borough, the remaining ten dollars going to the State.

Judson Lee Wins Recognition As Safe Driver

Judson Lee, 615 King St., an employee of the borough of Stroudsburg, recently received an honor award from a national insurance company in recognition of his contributions to highway safety during the past 48 years.

Mr. Lee has maintained a record as a "safe" driver with no charges in any state for recklessness, carelessness or speeding.

Fish Warden Awaits Word From Tests

Monroe County's fish warden, Floyd Bachman, still is awaiting the results of a test being performed at Bellefonte on several fish found dead last week in Brodheads Creek. ## Explosion Of Oil Heater Starts Fire

Shawnee-on-Delaware — The Shawnee Fire Co. was called out at 5 a.m. yesterday when an oil-heater in a small out-building belonging to the Silverwater bungalow exploded.

The blaze endangered their own cabin and the one next door. In the group along the Delaware River at Minisink Hills, across from the Smithfield School and adjacent to Camp Wyomissing, known as the "Minisink Hills Bungalows."

Thirty men responded with Chief Arthur Smith and both fire trucks. The special foam equipment for fighting oil fires was

Pocono Garden Club To Hear Ann Hawks Hutton, Author, And Bartonsville Resident

Bartonsville—Ann Hawks Hutton, of Bartonsville, is to be the guest speaker at the meeting of the Pocono Garden Club at the Tannersville Firehouse on July 7. Mrs. Hutton is an author and lecturer of note.

The daughter of Mrs. Katherine and the late Thomas G. Hawkes, prominent Philadelphia attorney, she inherited her father's interest in this country and the impact of its early history on today's freedom.

Mrs. Hutton has herself done extensive research in American history and has addressed many groups of students, historical societies and other organizations in the interest of dramatizing American history.

In 1948, her first book, "George Washington Crossed Here," was published and created quite a stir. Ed. Sullivan, New York columnist devoted an entire column in its praise, and it also received favorable publicity on several television shows, including John Gagny's "You Are an Artist" and Burr Tilstrom's "Kukla, Fran and Ollie."

The book is based on Washington's activities in the area now preserved as Washington Crossing Park between Yardley and New Hope to commemorate the river crossing to challenge the British at Trenton. Mrs. Hutton has arranged to have all royalties from the book used toward the restoration of two of the park's shrines: The Thompson-Neely house which was used as a hospital when the Army was encamped in the area, and the Ferry House from which General Washington himself embarked on the night of the crossing.

A member of the Park Commission since 1939, she has done extensive research on park history. History, however, is but one facet of her research, others being law, medicine and related subjects on which she has written articles for national magazines.

Monroe County and The Daily Record shared the spotlight with Mrs. Hutton last August, when she was the guest star on Home Highlights on WCAU-TV. Ed. McMahon, the show's star, spent ten minutes reading excerpts and ad-libbing gags about Monroe County with the cameras dollying in for a close-up of The Daily Record.

Ann Hutton is a graduate of Friends Select School, Philadelphia, and of the University of Pennsylvania School of Education and Law School. Since receiving her degree, she has served as advertising director for a Philadelphia firm, and has written scripts for radio, motion pictures and television, and wrote a narrated program on radio station WCAU under the name Ann Barclay.

At the present time, she is the only woman member of the School Authority of Bristol Township, Bucks County. In October she was unanimously elected "distinguished daughter of Pennsylvania by the Bucks County Federation of Women's Clubs."

Mrs. Hutton is the wife of Leon J. H. Hutton, president of the Hutton firm in Riverside, N. J., and president of the Riverside Chamber of Commerce. He was an All-American football player while a student at Purdue.

They have a ten-year-old daughter, Katie Ann, who attends St. Mary's Hall in Burlington, N. J.

During the summer months, and as often as possible during the winter, the Huttons come to their Hawks Hill estate on the Bartonsville-Snydersville Road. During the rest of the year they live at "Shadybrook," Edgely, Pa.

Around The Stroudsburgs

Miss Sandra Brodt, of Butler, N. J., daughter of Ellsworth Brodt, is spending the month of July in the Stroudsburgs, where she formerly made her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Overfield and their sons, Paul and Nelson Jr., of Franklin Hill are touring the West in a six-weeks vacation. With their station wagon and small trailer they are camping as they go. Latest cards received from local friends were from Arizona where the Overfields encountered Ralph Rheinfels, formerly of Stroudsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald North and son, Richard of Lawndale, Phila., were recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Grant, Lake Ananiamok.

Rev. and Mrs. Daniel Nicely and daughter Susan, who have been visiting Mrs. Nicely's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Altemose, Seventh St., for the past week will leave today for Pittsburgh and a brief stay at the shore. They plan to spend a few days here on their return trip to Concord the latter part of the month.

Young People Take Adult's Place For Sunday Service

Bartonsville—On Sunday various young people of St. John's Lutheran Sunday School assumed the duties of officers and teachers in the church school. Robert Field served as superintendent and Walter Getz had been appointed pianist but was unable to be present because of illness.

Teachers for the day were Robert Cyphers, Men's Class; Robert Field, Crusader class; Nancy Spencer, Junior class; Beverly Hartman, primary class and Beverly Bond, beginner's class.

Jr. Crusaders Hold Picnic

Swiftwater—The Junior Crusaders group of St. John's Lutheran Sunday school held a picnic on the church lawn on Wednesday night, June 25. Games were played and tentative plans were made for a roller skating party in the near future.

The Bible study was led by Miss Geraldine Jansner.

Postpones Meeting

Bartonsville—The meeting of the Berean class of St. John's Lutheran Sunday school has been postponed from July 4 to July 11 because of the holiday.

SILK FOR THE BEACH—Tina Leser's fantail bathing suit is made of handwoven Celebesian silk, from her 1952 Resort collection for Edwin H. Foreman. Striped in blue on orange, the suit has a tuck-in halter top and close-fitting pants with fantail in back. The lining is jersey.

They were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller, and the ceremony was followed by a reception for the bridal party at Trainer's Restaurant.

Red Cross Water Safety This Summer

Summer means "water safety" in the Red Cross book of service, and the coming camping and playground season will inaugurate another busy season for the various Red Cross courses.

Mrs. Arthur Henning is chairman of the water safety program, which last year issued 213 certificates to applicants located at camps in the county, and 233 certificates to county residents, making a total of 436.

The water safety courses include those for beginners, swimmer, intermediate and advanced. The life saving courses include Junior and Senior courses.

The first aid program has also been a busy one, and during the past year there were 574 persons in Monroe County who received First Aid instruction and were certificated; 495 received the standard certificate and 79 the advanced certificate. In addition, 12 qualified instructors assisted with the training.

At East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, four faculty members were qualified as examiners, two as water safety instructors and 2 first aid instructors.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

Don't know whether to blame it on last week's heat taking the starch out of you or on the coming weekend's holiday getting you all tangled up in ironing your vacation clothes, but something happened. The social merry-go-round has slowed down to such an extent that you can hop on and off at will.

Hop off long enough to watch them carrying the pews out of the Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church getting their big renovation program underway.

Linger a while at the East Stroudsburg pool where a lot of Stroudsburg young people were playing the role of visiting firemen. Watch the checker game and pause fascinated by the fountain made by a break in the pipe. Fancy as anything it was, with the wind breaking the stream into chunks of crystal.

All of which is very pleasant but doesn't fill the space on the social page. And filling mighty little space on the social page are the brief announcements that the July meeting of the Whosis has been canceled, the executive board meeting has been postponed, the supper has been called off.

Leaves you pretty frustrated, too, to see three wedding licenses all at once, and then discover that they're all from Brooklyn, Philadelphia or some place equally remote.

It's all right, having the summer tourists take over the Main Streets, and the parking places, and your place in the check-out line, but when they start taking over the weddings, you'd better get busy, girls.

Girl Scout Day Campers Wear Trails Through Woods In Closing Week's Activities

The Girl Scout Day Camp activities are speeding up as the final days of this year's camp approach. Last night a part of the Intermediates stayed over night with Mrs. Sonia James and Marie Cohen as leaders.

Tomorrow night, Mrs. Roger Acker, Pat Dodson and Elaine Smith will remain with the second group of Intermediates.

Brownies are deep in Indian lore, with peace pipes drying on many a ledge and rock.

Camp Lloyd Treible, the Monroe County Girl Scout's own camp on Mosier's Knob, is in use for the first time this year, but already the woodland around the camp building have taken on a lived-in air. Well-worn paths wind under the trees to the shaded nooks where the girls have had their activity groups. Yesterday the intermediates cleared a site for the council fire, and traditions are being made.

The camp will be in session on Wednesday and Thursday, and skipping the holiday on Friday, will have its closing day on Saturday. Because of the holiday weekend, parents who are not able to attend on Saturday, will be welcomed on Thursday to inspect the camp, the handcraft and the songs, games and dances which the girls have learned.

Additional program aides have replaced last week's volunteers with Sue Ellenberger, of Minisink Hills; Elaine Smith and Joan Charlton, and Sonia James, of Stroudsburg, assisting this week.

Drug Co. Picnic Is Held At Mountain Manor

Swiftwater — The employees of the National Drug Company held their annual picnic outing, Saturday afternoon and night, at the Mountain Manor Hotel, in Marshalls Creek.

The activities of the day, made available by the management, included: golf, swimming, fishing, tennis, ball games, shuffleboard, and a magic show. A delicious buffet dinner was served, and everyone reported a most enjoyable time.

One comes away from these informative sessions with Selma, seeing more vividly than she can ever guess, why she has become through the years, a symbol of Wyckoff service to a great many of our customers. She is no different today than the Selma who sold me jewelry on my first pay day... or a breakfast set when I went house-keeping... and helped select a book a week when books were located just about where the Grandfather's clock now stands in our center aisle.

As far back as I can remember, Selma has always taken time to show merchandise carefully and thoroughly to anyone who stopped to look, and one of the things that makes a particular dish or music box outstanding, is the personal pride she always takes in displaying it. Hers is that rare, wonderful faculty of finding pleasure in whatever it is that pleases the customer. I honestly doubt that she's ever lost her patience with anyone... not even with the lady who, years ago, took five busy hours of the Christmas season to make a few purchases.

It's quite an art to be that kind of a sales person. But we are fortunate in having any number of employees who are equally sincere in their efforts to do a really fine job. It is these people who will stand out through the years as the ones upon whom Wyckoff customers rely for friendly cooperation and reliable judgment. This in itself is a reward any serious minded employee might covet.

Weirton Steel Asks Boost Of $5.50 Per Ton

Pittsburgh (AP)—The number of workers idled by the CIO United Steelworkers strike spurted to the million mark yesterday and a steel company which granted its independent union workers a wage hike asked the government to approve a $5.50 a ton price increase.

More than 400,000 workers in steel-making industries have joined the ranks of jobless in the 29-day-old strike of about 600,000 members of the steelworkers.

Weirton Steel, a major U. S. producer of tin plate for cans and other products, disclosed it is asking the Office of Price Stabilization to approve the new higher prices.

Price Controls Chief Ellis Arnall indicated yesterday he is standing by his opposition to any steel price increase averaging more than $3 a ton.

Weirton said it needs price relief to cover the cost of higher wages granted its 11,500 employees. Steelmen wonder whether OPS approval, when and if granted, will set an industry-wide pattern on how much of a price increase struck producers can expect after wage demands of the USW are settled.

Weirton Steel last week granted its workers in Weirton, W. Va., and Steubenville, O., a 25-cent hourly pay increase and nine cents more in fringe benefits. Weirton Steel does not bargain with the striking CIO union. Its plants have continued production during the current USW work stoppage.

Weirton officials said higher labor costs will add about $10 to the cost of making a ton of steel. But the company's president, Thomas Millsop, expects the firm to absorb part of the increased expense.

Other steel companies have estimated the USW demands for a 26-hourly pay package also will cost $10 a ton. Government sources previously indicated a price hike of about $4.50 a ton is all they will allow.

Physician Treats Injured After Car Is Sideswiped

A Monroe County physician, Dr. Frank E. Halstead who resides at Ansonia and has offices in Stroudsburg, played a major role in administering emergency first-aid to several persons injured in an automobile crash late Saturday night in Canada.

Dr. and Mrs. Halstead were returning home from a vacation in Canada. As they approached the border, about six miles east of Kingston, Ont., Dr. Halstead swerved his automobile to the left to avoid a head-on collision with another car, reported "on the wrong side of the road, traveling without lights and at a high rate of speed."

As Dr. Halstead swerved, the other car sideswiped his automobile damaging the right side several hundred dollars and continued West hitting three guard rails before plunging down a ravine where it hit a utility pole. Dr. Halstead went to the aid of six passengers in the other car and treated the driver for a fractured nose; a woman passenger for a broken leg and lacerations of the face; and another woman for possible fractured back. Three passengers seated in the rear of the car were reported suffering from shock.

After administering aid for about 45 minutes, a Kingston ambulance reached the scene and took the six injured persons to the hospital. Sunday, Dr. Halstead learned all were improved. Dr. and Mrs. Halstead started their trip home Sunday, arriving here early Monday morning.

Portland Blanks West Bangor, 6-0

Portland — Portland scored its 14th Blue Mountain League victory in 15 outings here yesterday, when the Apollos took the measure of West Bangor, 6-0, behind the five-hit pitching of Al Stull, while his mates pounded out 12 safeties against Ken O'Hay.

Stull kept the five hits well scattered, with five West Bangor players being credited with one hit each, while Harold "Hair" Staples led the winning attack with three safeties. Frank Sharp and August "Bus" Lepine each chipped in two hits in a winning cause.

Scoring: Portland scored what proved to be the winning run in the second inning, then added another singleton in the third round and put the contest on ice with four big markers in the sixth stanza.

The victory enabled Portland to stretch its lead to three and one-half games over second place Tatamy, one of the clubs that wasn't scheduled for action yesterday.

Hart Eliminated From Wimbledon Tennis Play

Wimbledon, England, (AP)—Defending Champion Doris Hart was shunted to the sidelines but Americans still filled all four semi-final berths yesterday in the women's singles of the All-England Lawn Tennis Championships.

Shirley Fry of Akron, O., joined three Californians in the round of four for tomorrow's semis. She will meet Maureen Connolly of San Diego, Calif., reigning American champ, in a rematch of last year's U. S. finals. Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., will face Mrs. Pat Todd of La Jolla, Calif., upset conqueror of Miss Hart.

Mrs. Todd outlasted Miss Hart in the intense heat to oust the 1951 winner in three gruelling sets, 6-8, 7-5, 6-4. Second-seeded Miss Connolly, playing her first Wimbledon, survived early wildness to defeat Mrs. Thelma Long of Australia, 5-7, 6-2, 6-0.

Short Work
Miss Fry made short work of Mrs. Jean Walker-Smith of England, 6-3, 6-3, and Louise Brough, three-time Wimbledon winner beat Mrs. Jean Rinkel of England, 6-1, 9-7.

Two successive center court matches that saw Miss Connolly win and Miss Hart lose may have determined the future of the Wimbledon title for several years to come.

From the middle of her second set, Miss Connolly looked like a champion for the first time during this tournament. She showed the accurate driving game that has brought her American honors. Particularly in the third set, she showed the supreme confidence necessary to win big tournaments.

On the other hand, Miss Hart barely had her beautiful strokes fully under control. For the first four games she was a winner. The thermometer hovered in the mid-90s and the air at playing level felt like a Turkish bath as the two veterans battled for almost two hours.

Dodgers Rally To Decision Phillies, 4-3

Brooklyn (AP) — Pee Wee Reese, benched by a pulled muscle, came through with a pinch single with two out and the bases loaded in the ninth inning yesterday to give Brooklyn a 4-3 win over the Philadelphia Phillies.

Jackie Robinson started the winning rally by working Reliever Jim Konstanty for a walk to open the ninth and took second when Roy Campanella beat out a bunt. After George Shuba popped out and Duke Snider moved Robinson to third with a fly ball, the Phils walked Gil Hodges intentionally.

Winning Blow

Reese went up to bat for Bobby Morgan and promptly broke up the ball game with a single to right.

Snider's scoring fly brought home Campanella with the first run and Hodges tied the score with his 16th home run into the leftfield stands.

The Phils scored all their runs in the fourth inning off Ralph Branca.

Wilks' Relief Hurling Gives Pirates Verdict Over Cubs

Chicago, (AP) — Thirty-seven-year-old Ted Wilks, making his 29th relief appearance, pitched the Pittsburgh Pirates to a 3-2 victory over Chicago yesterday by stopping the Cubs on two hits during the final two innings.

The Cubs had a run home, the bases full and none out when Wilks rescued starter Forrest Main in the Chicago eighth. After Manager Phil Cavarretta fouled for the first out, Gene Herman was credited with a pinch single as Bobby Del Greco and Gus Bell collided attempting to field his sinking liner.

This break enabled Bob Addis to score Chicago's second and last run. Thereafter Wilks blanked the Cubs for keeps save for Addis' two out single in the ninth.

First Run

Pittsburgh scored a run without a hit in the second as Ralph Kiner was hit by a Willard Ramsdell pitch and completed the baseline journey on Eddie Miksis' error; a wild pitch, and George Strickland's fly.

Strickland also powered Pittsburgh's two-run fifth. This time the second baseman belted his number five home run onto the left field bleacher catwalk, with Clyde McCullough aboard.

Blair Aces Tenth Hole

Bob Blair registered the first hole-in-one at Glen Brook Country Club this season on Sunday, when he aces the 10th hole.

Blair used a three-iron to blast the ball into the cup 185 yards away.

Several aces have been made at Glen Brook in recent years, but most of the perfect shots have been registered on the 16th hole.

Giants Down Braves, 6-3

Boston (AP) — Homers by "Hank" Thompson, his third here in two nights, and Dave Williams sparked the New York Giants' 10-hit attack last night as they defeated the Boston Braves, 6-3. The game got underway in brawling fashion, for Tribesman Earl Torgeson was ejected during the second inning after rushing the Giants' bench to punch catcher Sal Yvars.

Before Torgeson got a first-inning single, he and Yvars exchanged harsh words. The Giants' catcher had charged that Torgeson had hit him on the shin while making his backswing.

After Torgeson connected Yvars smashed his bat against the plate. Torgeson was stranded on first base and did not have any opportunity to retaliate until he came in after the first of the second-inning.

He rushed to the Giants' bench and struck Yvars over the right eye before other Giants players restrained him.

Thompson connected for his 10th homer of the season after Bobby Thomson had singled in the top of the first.

The Giants collected their other three tallies in the fifth, on Williams' four-bagger, a base on balls and two singles.

The victory left the Giants in second place, three and one-half games off the pace being set by the first place Dodgers.

Klein Gains Decision

Brooklyn (AP) — Joey Klein, 148½, New York punched out a unanimous eight-round decision over Ritchie Reed, 148½, White Plains, N. Y., last night in the feature bout at Ft. Hamilton Arena.

Rolfe's Fate To Be Decided On Saturday

Detroit, (AP) — The future of Detroit Tiger Manager Red Rolfe, long a subject of speculation and argument in this baseball-minded city, may be settled once and for all Saturday.

That's the day set aside by the last-place club's board of directors for a special meeting on the managerial subject. And if most of the speculation is borne out, that will be the one-time Yankee star's last day at the Tiger helm.

For weeks now fans who demand a first division team at all times here have been howling for a change. As the Tigers have sunk deeper and deeper into the American League cellar—they're down 18½ games now—those cries have multiplied and grown louder.

Speculation

In recent days most of the speculation has assumed that Rolfe will go, and the only questions are when and who will succeed him.

One of the city's best authorities on the subject, Sports Editor H. G. Salsinger of the Detroit News, said today that both Rolfe and Third Base Coach Dick Bartell will be asked to "take a vacation" until the end of the year. For all practical purposes, that would be equivalent to firing since neither of their contracts runs beyond the end of the season.

Salsinger said First Base Coach Ted Lyons, former Chicago White Sox pilot, would be named to run the club for the remainder of the season.

Rolfe was one of the greatest third basemen in the history of the Yankees, but his been having managerial troubles since. The Tigers were selected as a pennant contender last Spring.

Dickinson Names New Coaches

Carlisle (AP) — Dickinson College yesterday named two new athletic coaches and announced that A. C. "Slim" Ransom, its new football coach, also will tutor the basketball team.

Additions

The new additions are Lindy L. Lauro, 31, who was named football coach and assistant to Ransom at basketball, and Charles H. Bush, 23, who will coach lacrosse and be football line coach.

Lauro, whose home is New Castle, Pa., was a fullback at the University of Pittsburgh from 1946 through 1949 and a member of the Chicago Cardinals the past two seasons.

Yankees Trip Red Sox, 3-2

New York, (AP) — Bobby Brown, playing his next to last game at Yankee Stadium for the New York Yankees, doubled home Mickey Mantle from first base in the eighth inning last night to give the world champions a 3-2 victory over the Boston Red Sox before 48,797 fans, largest crowd of the season in Yankee Stadium.

Brown was notified before the game to report for duty as a doctor in the Army a week from today.

Slaughter Leads Cards To Victory

St. Louis, (AP) — Enos Slaughter drove in five runs with two homers last night to become the fourth active major leaguer to total 1,000 or more runs batted in as his St. Louis Cardinals coasted to an 8-3 victory over the Cincinnati Reds on the six-hit pitching of rookie Wilmer "Vinegar Bend" Mizell.

Army Call

Brown was notified before the game to report for duty as a doctor in the Army a week from today.

Durocher Finds Seat In Right Field Section

Statement

Senior Umpire Larry Goetz, who admitted seeing Durocher signaling to his players, explained:

"I can't do a thing about it. The rules say a suspended manager can sit anywhere except near his own dugout. I'm an umpire, not a detective. Until they put some teeth into that rule, I can't prevent any manager from signaling."

Durocher, sidelined for four days as the result of a dispute with Umpire Bill Stewart, defended himself silently. He produced a telegram from President Warren G. of the National League, which read:

"There is no objection to your watching the game in the ball park but do not go near your club's dugout or private box."
